

Next Food Cost Index Expected To Show Drop

By JERRY T. BAULCH
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government reports a slow but steady decline in food prices and cautiously offers the hope they may stay down for a while.

The possibility also was voiced that the next living cost index, due late in March, will show a drop for the first time in months.

But Ewan Clague, commissioner of statistics in the labor department, said in expressing such hopes he saw "no signs of any real downward trend" in prices.

Won't Go Far
"My opinion is that retail prices won't go very far in either direction during the next few months," he said.

Hope for lower prices, or at least relative stability, was seen in several quarters yesterday.

1. Clague told a news conference food prices dropped 2.1 per cent between mid-January and mid-February. They fell 0.9 per cent in the last half of January and an additional 1.2 per cent between Jan. 28 and Feb. 15.

2. The Agriculture Department reported farm product prices dropped nearly 4 per cent during the same period. The mid-February farm price level was 8 per cent below the peak of February a year ago but still well above any other February on record.

Weather Big Factor
3. Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, testifying before the Senate Agriculture Committee reported good prospects that high yields will hold food prices down. That depends mostly on weather.

Tanks In Action Again In Korea

By MILO FARNETI
SEOUL — (AP) — United Nations tanks today rumbled into action on the muddy Korean battlefield for the second straight day.

A tank-infantry raiding unit, backed up by intense artillery fire, hammered Red targets south of Pyongyang in the central front for more than an hour at dawn Saturday.

Chinese artillery and mortar fire damaged two of the tanks. The tanks were pulled back to Allied lines.

That brought to 12 the number of Allied tanks destroyed or damaged Friday and Saturday.

Allied fighter bombers and jets found fine flying weather Saturday. The light bombers cut the Reds' patchwork rail lines in places up to noon and Sabre jet pilots damaged one MIG in brief fights with nearly 100 enemy jets.

The Fifth Air Force issued summaries for this week and Friday.

The monthly report showed the Fifth lost 27 planes over North Korea in February, well below the record 50 of January. In the same period, the Fifth pilots destroyed or damaged 51 Russian built MIGs.

Leap Year Baby, 4, Has Leap Year Brother

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A leap year baby born four years ago now has a leap year brother, born yesterday. Doctors estimate chances of two leap year births in one family are about one in a million.

Father is Myron Herrick (Mike) Palm, outstanding football star with the University of Pennsylvania and later with the professional New York Giants. He now runs a Washington restaurant.

Only two Allied planes fell in air fights with the MIGs during February.

Administration Fights Slash In Foreign Aid

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Truman administration reportedly has decided to fight any cut in its proposed $7,900,000,000 new foreign aid program.

Secretary of State Acheson told a nationwide radio and television audience last night this program "deserves our utmost support" and is "vital" to the success of Western European defense plans.

Other officials following up the Acheson appeal, said the program had been carefully worked out by the State and Defense Departments and the Mutual Security Administration, and the new money requested is considered essential to enable other nations to carry out defense plans.

President Truman will lay detailed figures for both military and economic foreign aid before Congress in the week of March 6. Hearings will begin March 11.

There has been some talk at the Capitol of voting only funds for military aid.

Acheson's speech last night was a report to the nation on what was accomplished on his diplomatic mission to London and Lisbon where he joined with other Western foreign ministers in conferences designed to build up North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in Europe.

Acheson said the meetings of the British, French, German and American ministers at London and a session of the 14-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Early Korea Truce Hopes Dim As Reds Stick With Russia

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
MUNSAU, Korea — (AP) — Communist truce negotiators said today they would "eternally reject" efforts to keep Russia off a neutral supervisory commission, and a U. N. delegate acknowledged that there seems to be "no prospect" of an early Korean armistice.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby told the Reds it was apparent there would be no early truce and called for an immediate exchange of all sick and wounded prisoners.

Blame On Allies
The Communists promptly rejected Libby's request and accused the U. N. Allies of "deliberately serving notice" that they planned to delay the armistice negotiations.

The Red notice that they will stand by their nomination of Russia as a neutral inspector came only a day after U. N. negotiators announced "final and irrevocable" rejection of the Soviet Union.

North Korean Col. Chan Chun San said bluntly: "I hereby declare our side will eternally reject your opposition (to Russia) until you withdraw your unreasonable objections."

Chan said the two-week deadlock over Russia could be broken only if the U. N. accepted one of two alternatives, both of which would include Soviet representatives on neutral teams which would inspect behind the lines during a truce.

Red Cross Barred
The first, he said, was for both sides to agree to all neutral nations nominated. The second would be for each side to select its representatives without agreement on the part of the other side.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho said both sides already have agreed to give priority to the sick and wounded after an armistice is signed.

Lee also turned down a request to permit the Red Cross to distribute packages in prisoners of war camps.

Argentina Frees Detroit Tourist
BUENOS AIRES — (AP) — Saul Saulson, 23, Detroit tourist, was released from an Argentine jail today after 16 days in custody on undisclosed charges. The accusations presumably were connected with an alleged radical party plot against the life of President Juan D. Peron.

Saulson, who came to Argentina in December for a visit with a cousin who was a radical party leader, was released in custody of U. S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker. One of Bunker's staff, Consul General Kenneth Years, saw Saulson in jail last night and reported him in good health.

Saulson's cousin, the one he visited, now is missing and authorities think he may have fled the country. A member of the family says Saulson speaks very little Spanish and knew nothing of local political ramifications.

Detroit Blasts And Fires Kill 4; Loss Over Million

Tornado Cuts Swath Through Tennessee Town; Two Dead

By WATSON S. SIMS
FAYETTEVILLE, Tenn. — (AP) — Red Cross workers, highway patrolmen and National Guardsmen probed wrecked homes and businesses and poked among twisted trees and a snarl of power lines today looking for more possible victims of yesterday's savage tornado.

Blazes Break Out
The late afternoon ripper left at least two dead in this south central Tennessee town. The Tennessee highway patrol estimated 150 were hurt or burned in the subsequent rash of fires.

As heavy clouds scudded low overhead in the gray dawn, patrol chief W. T. Shelton said, "I don't see how this sort of a blow could strike and kill only two people."

"There's no telling how high the toll would have been had it hit early in the morning when the people were asleep."

The emergency workers headed out for their first light-of-day survey of the grim scene.

Shelton said he had heard estimates of damage ranging up to four million dollars, but added it was impossible to gauge accurately the extent of destruction.

The business section was raked, but not hit squarely by the tornado. Shelton said 100 houses were destroyed or damaged.

Cold Wind Follows
The twister skipped over other areas in middle Tennessee and northeast Alabama with less intensity.

The high winds smashed into the center of Fayetteville (pop. 6,000) at 4:30 p. m. (CST), ripping buildings apart, tearing up trees, and knocking out communications and power lines.

Charlie Vance, 56, a milk company worker, said he heard a roar and saw the "gray funnel" of the twister. Limbs of trees, parts of buildings and other debris swirled "as high as 500 feet in the air," Vance said.

The dead were identified as Willard McCown, 35, grocery clerk; and Mrs. Eugene McGeehe, 55, a housewife. Both perished when their homes were demolished by the winds.

The tornado dispelled shirt-sleeve temperatures and strong winds still howled over the city as thermometers neared freezing.

What's Next In Red Inquiry At Detroit?

By FELIX B. WOLD
DETROIT — (AP) — Detroit and Michigan were left to wonder today what the Communism inquiry's unfinished business might turn up.

A subcommittee of the House Un-American Activities Committee completed its allotted five days yesterday. But it wants to come back March 10.

If the full committee gives approval, either the same subcommittee or another will resume the hearing.

FBI spy Bereniece (Toby) Baldwin, 49, the grandmother who watched Communists in action for nine years, told her story as the last witness yesterday.

Mrs. Baldwin, naming at least 30 Michigan cities as sites of Communist cells or clubs, told of intrigue and secret meetings and secret membership lists.

With recourse to her records, she named scores of persons whom she declared to be Communists.

At one point, she said the party particularly sought control of labor unions. At a meeting April 21, 1950, she added, a party member reported the Communists had gained control of the executive board of the CIO United Auto Workers Ford Rouge Local 600.

After her three hours on the stand, she said she would be available for further questioning.

Redfield and Police Chief L. R. Greeson both refused to estimate the loss, but a report released by District Attorney Jack Streeter showed these figures:

Currency: $300,000.

Jewelry: Between $50,000 and $100,000.

Negotiable securities: Between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000.

There were indications that if he can win office he will set up a strong cabinet of technicians and start a thorough-going shake-up of the unstable French political system.

The 73-year-old veteran politician won the unanimous support of the members of parliament in his own loosely-organized conservative party, the Union of Independent pendents and Peasants. That virtually assured him of 102 votes in the national assembly.

He needs 313 to be confirmed as premier.

Full support of the party was offered to Reynaud "for the formation of a government of national union, demanded by the country and necessary for the safety of the franc."

Reynaud laid out a full program of high-level financial and political conferences today. His most important visitor of the morning was ex-Premier Rene Pleven.

In a chat with reporters afterward, Pleven strengthened the idea that a Reynaud cabinet would make thoroughgoing changes in the French political system. Reynaud is known to be partial to the idea. A "National Union," cabinet, embracing all parties but the Communists, might enable him to do this.

Reynaud flew back from England yesterday and immediately undertook his job—to form a small cabinet with greater powers to restore order from the economic chaos threatening France. His conversations were expected to last far into the night and all through Sunday.

Aid For Yugoslavia Runs To 120 Million
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Yugoslavia will get 45 million dollars more in big three economic aid up to June 30, bringing the total to 120 million for a 12-month period ending then.

Diplomatic officials, in announcing the agreement yesterday, said the United States is supplying 65 per cent, Great Britain 23 per cent and France 12 per cent.

The amount of U. S. military aid, in addition to this, has not been disclosed.

Student Wounded In Shooting Spree At Madison, Wis.

MADISON, Wis. — (AP) — A University of Wisconsin student was seriously wounded yesterday in what authorities described as a wild campus shooting spree by a fellow student.

William E. Loeb, 27, of Winnetka, Ill., was struck in the chest by two bullets as he worked in a University chemistry laboratory.

District Attorney Richard W. Bardwell said Leonard Stalmann, 32, of Baltimore, Md., was being held without charge for questioning in the shooting. Both Stalmann and Loeb are graduate chemistry students.

Bardwell said Stalmann entered a chemistry laboratory where Loeb was working and fired eight shots. The district attorney said Stalmann could give no reason for his action.

Stalmann was arrested by University and City police after being overcome by the tear gas fired into the laboratory. Bardwell said no charge will be placed against Stalmann pending outcome of Loeb's wounds.

At the student infirmary, Dr. John W. Brown said Loeb had bled internally and was given transfusions.

Sault Cancels Sailor Banquet

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. — (AP) — Because it was awfully warm for February, there'll be no banquet marking the opening of navigation at the Sault locks this year.

The banquet, an annual affair, had been scheduled for March 15. But the marine committee of the Chamber of Commerce said that the weather's been so warm navigation probably will open two or three weeks early this year.

Therefore there won't be any sailors around here at banquet time, the committee reasoned. They'll all be sailing.

February at the Sault was the warmest in years, with an average temperature of 20.

Now the committee is concentrating on plans to welcome the first ship through the locks.

Reynaud, 73, Returns To Help Stave Off French Cash Chaos

By CARL HARTMAN
PARIS — (AP) — Paul Reynaud, the financial wizard who led France in her fall before the Germans, got off to a quick start today in his first attempt to head a new kind of French postwar government.

There were indications that if he can win office he will set up a strong cabinet of technicians and start a thorough-going shake-up of the unstable French political system.

The 73-year-old veteran politician won the unanimous support of the members of parliament in his own loosely-organized conservative party, the Union of Independent

Huge Ford Co. Tank Factory Badly Damaged

DETROIT — (AP) — Four persons were killed in two explosions and a fire that struck the Detroit area, causing damage estimated unofficially at well over a million dollars.

Two men were killed in Royal Oak in an explosion that wrecked a sporting goods store last night.

In the other blast, valuable structural steel was destroyed at a new tank plant under construction.

A fire early today swept a home in suburban Wyandotte, taking the lives of Edward Freeman, 38, and his son, John, 5. Four other members of the family were burned seriously.

President To Talk Thursday Night On Mutual Security

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman will address the nation on the mutual security program next Thursday night.

The White House announced broadcast and television plans today, on the heels of reports that the administration has decided to fight any cut in its proposed $7,900,000,000 new foreign aid program.

The President will speak from 10:30 to 11 p. m. (EST) over all major radio and TV networks.

Joseph Short, Presidential press secretary, said that the President will send Congress his request for the military and economic aid funds at about the same time as the speech.

Russell Vaccinated Against Presidentitis
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Russell of Georgia, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, says he has been verbally vaccinated against "Presidentitis" and won't let it hurt his Senatorial work.

"When I first came here a wise old Senator took me aside and told me that more good Senators had been ruined by 'Presidentitis' than any other cause," he said.

"I decided then my main efforts would be in the Senate and that still holds."

Club Members Observe National 4-H Week

Near the top of the list of youth organizations which are making solid citizens out of the nation's teen-agers is the community 4-H club.

Designed originally to encourage improvement of farm and home conditions, the 4-H movement has become a guiding force in all activities of farm youth.

Next week the two million members of the thousands of 4-H clubs which speckle the country are observing National 4-H Club Week, a time of planning activities for the year ahead from the achievements of the past year.

Delta county's 500 club members will begin to plan their work projects of sewing, handicraft, livestock breeding and rearing, and agriculture.

But as the theme of National 4-H Club Week indicates, members are also interested in "Serving as Local Citizens Through 4-H."

They not only serve as loyal citizens by enriching the productivity of the nation's farms but also by learning as much as they can about agriculture in order to insure the future safekeeping of this important industry in their hands.

U. P. Fair Show Window Probably the biggest event of the year for Delta county members is the Upper Peninsula State Fair where most of their achievements are annually put on display and entered in competition for coveted blue ribbon and cash prizes.

Some 800 of the best dairy animals, chickens, rabbits, dresses, vegetables and canned fruits will be brought in this year as tangible evidence of the "learning by doing" principle back of 4-H.

Young members are already studying their manuals and carefully feeding and brushing their 4-H animals so that they will look their best for the "big show."

In 1951, 116 Delta county club members made 198 individual exhibits that won for them over $900 in premium money.

Year-Around Activities

Besides the U. P. State Fair, Delta county clubbers show their work at the spring Achievement program where projects accomplished in the winter are shown, at the State 4-H Show held annually at Michigan State College, and at the state, county and Upper Peninsula potato shows.

A winning entry in any one of these shows is a part of the qualifications for scholarships to Michigan State College given every year by the State Board of Agriculture.

A large part of the Delta county 4-H picture are the summer camps which all members have an opportunity to attend. The county clubs schedule three camp programs during the summer: one at Wells State Park for the 10-13 age group, and two at Camp Shaw, Chatham, for older members.

National Center Bought

During the past year, the two million club members contributed ten cents each towards the purchase of a national 4-H center, an eleven acre campus near Washington, D. C. The new center will serve as a home base to the nation's clubs and will house the National 4-H Camp held each June.

The fifties birthday anniversary of this vast movement called 4-H which claims 15 million alumni, is being commemorated this year.

Its beginning is credited to a Springfield, Ohio, county school superintendent who organized an agricultural club to encourage farming among the youth of the community. Michigan's first club was organized in 1908 as a boys' Corn Growing Association. At about the same time similar clubs were springing up in Iowa, Illinois, Texas and Mississippi.

There were the foundation of the present 4-H club organization.

In 1914 Congress passed the Smith Lever Extension Act under which 4-H club work became a part of the extension service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and state agricultural colleges.

Through all of this the country's 4-H clubs have grown to a position second probably to only the Boy Scouts of America as a good citizen-building service organization.

St. Joseph High School Students Hear Australian

Kenneth Alexander, Sydney, Australia, business man, spoke to students of St. Joseph High school at Escanaba yesterday morning assembly. Alexander is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barron, Flat Rock, who recently returned from a tour of Australia.

The students were told that in Australia the schools are periodically visited by business and professional men who present information helpful to the students in selecting a career.

About 80 per cent of Australia high school graduates go to work and the remaining 20 per cent enroll in colleges and universities of higher education, Alexander said.

Last night Alexander and Barron attended a meeting of Delta county dairy farmers at Cornell and on Monday Alexander will speak to the Escanaba Rotary Club. He is enroute home after touring Europe on a business trip.

protection are urged to attend the meeting.

Driver Of Bus Held Negligent

(Special To The Press)

GREEN BAY — A Greyhound bus driver whose vehicle was involved in a traffic fatality north of Duck Creek on Highway 41-141 last July 13.

He is Thomas Owen Williams, Escanaba, whose bus was passing the northbound car of Kinney Nelson, Green Bay salesman, on the shoulder of the highway, when Nelson's car collided almost head-on with a truck of the Clairmont Transfer, Escanaba, killing Nelson instantly.

Nelson was found 20 per cent negligent, and Clayton Lehman, Escanaba, driver of the truck, contributed the other 10 per cent, the jury found.

Jury Verdict Friday

The verdict was returned at 4:10 Friday afternoon, six hours after the jury had received the consolidated lawsuits of Nelson's estate against Northland Greyhound Lines, Inc., and Clairmont Transfer, and the suit of Lehman and his employer, Clairmont, against Greyhound and Nelson's insurance company. The case had been on trial in circuit court all week.

The jury awarded Nelson's estate stipulated damages of $2,500 for funeral expenses, car damage and similar items, and gave his daughter, Susan, $5,500 in pecuniary damages. Susan, 12, lives with her mother in Billings, Mont. The Nelsons were divorced in 1947.

Adolph Bieberstein, Madison, attorney for Greyhound, asked leave to file motions after verdict in writing, before entry of the judgment.

Opinion was that, if the verdict stands, the award to Nelson's daughter and his estate will be decreased by 30 per cent, 20 per cent because of his own negligence, and 10 per cent because his negligence exceeded that of Clairmont, the other defendant.

Lehman's damages were fixed at $700 for pain and suffering, and his employer was awarded $700 for damage to the truck, plus $188 of use. It was expected that these would be decreased by 10 per cent, the amount of negligence found against Lehman.

Appeal of the case to the supreme court was regarded as probable.

The jury first came in with its verdict shortly before 4 o'clock, but was sent back by Judge E. M. Duquaine because not all of the questions had been properly answered. The amended verdict was returned about 20 minutes later. There were no dissenters among the seven men and five women making up the jury.

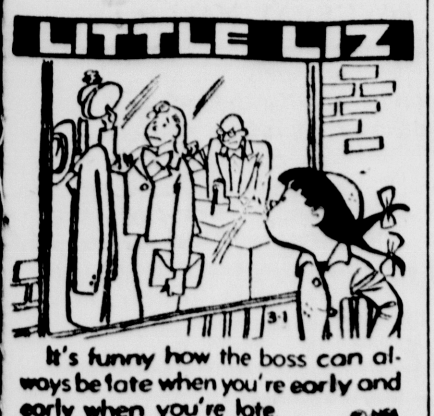

Williams had testified he repeatedly had tried to pass Nelson's car, and that Nelson refused to permit him to do so. When he finally came abreast of him, Williams said, Nelson speeded up, and the bus driver was forced to take the shoulder to avoid the oncoming truck. Lehman said when he saw the two vehicles coming toward him, he braked his 20-ton load with "all he had," and stayed in his lane. The jury found him 10 per cent negligent for not reducing his speed sooner.

Chest Fund Aids County Children

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Upper Peninsula branch of the Michigan Children's Aid Society, a review of activities in individual counties as well as the entire peninsula showed active interest and support.

Delta county, represented by James T. Jones, Gladstone, trustee, presented final check covering donations through Community Chest Fund and friendly corporations for a total of $750.00. Some additional gifts were received from individuals.

Expenditures in Delta county were considerably greater than income received as ten children from the county were cared for. The Society appreciates being accepted as a member of the Community Chest and will continue its services to the extent of financial ability.

During 1951 there were 140 children cared for by the U. P. Branch, 24 adoptions were completed and 15 were placed in adoptive homes. The Upper Peninsula branch of the Michigan Children's Aid Society responded to requests from the department of social welfare to make investigations for unnamed orphans throughout the Upper Peninsula.

A phase of the agency's work which is little known is the discreet guidance which its workers were able to give to 30 unmarried mothers in meeting and working out their problems. This service included maternity home planning, arrangements for confinement care, boarding and adoptive placement of the babies. Children from the orthopedic, medical and cardiac programs of the state were boarded at the request of the Northern Michigan Children's Clinic and the Michigan Crippled Children Commission.

The Michigan Children's Aid Society is a private, non-sectarian, state-wide agency, incorporated in Michigan over 60 years ago. The state office is located in Detroit and there are 11 branch offices. The Upper Peninsula Branch of the Michigan Children's Aid Society has been established with headquarters in Marquette since 1921.

It is governed by a Board of Directors, which includes the following: Harlow A. Clark, president, Marquette; Munro L. Tibbitts, vice-president, Marquette; Edward S. Bice, treasurer, Marquette; Michael J. Anuta, Menominee; Ralph S. Archibald, Negaunee; Hon. Frank A. Bell, Negaunee; Mrs. W. P. Chamberlain, Marquette; Dr. Charles P. Drury, Marquette; Mrs. J. J. Herbert, Marquette; Mrs. Margaret Holmberg, Ironwood; James T. Jones, Gladstone; John Morrison, Marquette; Mrs. R. W. Nebel, Munising; Sherwin M. Overholt, Sault Ste. Marie; Raymond Turner, Iron Mountain.

Along with the announcement of the appointment of Ricks, Chamber President P. R. Vea said the association adopted a budget of $14,400 for the year. This amount will include the salaries of Ricks and that of a full-time secretary for him.

If There Are Reds Among Us, We Would Like To Know Them

IF the Communist party is active in the Upper Peninsula, as Mrs. Bereniece Baldwin, FBI spy, testified at the House subcommittee hearing on un-American activities in Detroit Friday, it would be exceedingly helpful if those persons who are known to be influential in the party were identified.

Mrs. Baldwin testified that the Communist party head in the Upper Peninsula was

Americans Fight In Korea To Halt Communism

AMONG countless Americans there is today a great doubt that we should be fighting in Korea. The feeling seems to be that it is all a horrible mistake, that nothing has come of it and nothing will.

You even hear it said in some places that the economic prosperity we now enjoy is being "fed by the blood of our boys dying in Korea."

General Ridgway, supreme United Nations commander in the Far East, sought the other day to give answer to this swelling doubt.

To an audience in Tokyo he declared: "It seems to be deplorable that with all we cherish ultimately at stake, with enslavement of body and mind instead of freedom for both as the eventual issue, there should still be questioning at home as to why we are in Korea. . .

"The lessons learned through General Washington at Valley Forge have been taught us again along the Rhine, the Elbe, the Nakdong and the Han.

"If the United States is to be effective, if collective decency is to triumph over group brutality, if we are to build indestructible strength into a world union of free peoples—then we had best read those lessons again and see that our generation and each succeeding generation learns them—learns and lives them."

To do otherwise than resist planned, unprovoked aggression like that of the Communists in Korea, said Ridgway, would be to acknowledge "as sterile every sacrifice America has made since it obtained independence."

Is there really no point in the Korean fighting?

Because of our entry into the war on that muddy peninsula, the Communists have been denied the fruits of their aggression. They have not won South Korea. Instead they have lost part of North Korea.

Hundreds of thousands of Reds and untold tons of equipment, all of which might have been employed later in other new aggressions, have now been destroyed.

The Communists, from the North Koreans on up to their masters in Moscow, have thereby been shown that aggression against the free world does not pay. We not only have resisted their active military depredations, we and our Allies the world around have reaped on a substantial scale in readiness for any further Communist ventures.

Because of this stout rearmament, because of our successful repulse of the Reds in Korea, the Communists have made no fresh moves across the borders of free land. For nearly two years we have watched for these moves. But our own courageous response to the Korean attack appears to have had tremendous effect.

In the judgment of many sober military minds, the likelihood of general war with Russia is today smaller than a year or two ago. And they give to Korea and its aftermath of resurgent defense activity the lion's share of credit for this hopeful circumstances.

How is it possible then to suggest that the heavy sacrifice of our men in Korea is without purpose?

Aggression allowed to go unchecked in Korea would have spread to other parts of Asia.

A yielding attitude there would have infected the whole free world community with a mood of supine resignation to the progress of the Communist bandwagon. The power of Russia would have been mightily enhanced, and the dangers to our liberty correspondingly enlarged.

The doubters cannot truly believe the Korean war is useless.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Lovett did some neat double-talking recently when he promised senators to abolish lie detectors.

What happened was that Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Republican, called Lovett on the carpet before the Senate Armed Services Committee after discovering military investigators were using lie detectors on loyalty suspects. Morse objected that lie detectors are frowned upon by American courts, following which Lovett promised to stop using them.

In contrast, here is the actual order sent out by Lovett: "I desire that all use of the polygraph (lie detector) for pre-employment and security clearance purposes within the immediate office of the Secretary of Defense be discontinued."

A Defense Department spokesman admitted to this column that the secretary's "immediate office" includes only nine civilians and 11 military personnel. In other words, the lie detector cannot be used on the 20 people in Lovett's "immediate office," but is permissible anywhere else in the Defense Department.

Result is that lie detectors are still in use as much as ever, though Lovett publicly gave the impression they would be outlawed.

Senator Morse is now toying with the idea of suggesting that a lie detector be used on the Secretary of Defense to make sure he doesn't give evasive answers.

INSIDE THE IRON CURTAIN

A group of realistic peace crusaders, many of them Iron Curtain refugees, listened to some plain talk last week on how we can win the cold war against Russia and restore world peace by using a weapon Stalin fears more than the atom bomb—the resistance of people he has enslaved behind the Iron Curtain.

Sparked by three forthright congressmen—O. K. Armstrong of Missouri, Republican; Brooks Hays of Arkansas, Democrat; and Charles Kersten of Wisconsin, Republican—the meeting was called the Conference of Psychological Strategy.

However, it all added up to people-to-people diplomacy of the type being practiced by thousands of American school children right now in writing messages to Russian school children to be broadcast over the Voice of America.

All speakers agreed that too little was being done to gain the good will of the common people behind the Iron Curtain, and that a good first step would be for the State Department and the Pentagon to quit stalling on the $100,000,000 program approved by Congress last year to provide aid for Iron Curtain refugees and strengthen underground resistance in satellite countries.

The State Department was criticized chiefly for its so-called "policy of containment" toward Russia.

"Communism cannot be appeased," keynoted GOP Congressman Armstrong. "It cannot be contained. So long as this worldwide conspiracy exists, it will seek to destroy human liberties. There remains only one conclusion: Communism must be defeated. It must be destroyed. Its virus must be eradicated."

In liberating the captive peoples of Communism, Armstrong warned, however, that the United States "must move boldly with ideas, not guns. Our first task will be to give assurances of hope to these hopeless millions that we intend to work unceasingly for their liberation. Our next and continuing task will be to employ the best methods of strengthening resistance among the victims of Soviet enslavement."

Edward O'Connor of the Displaced Persons Commission also advocated a central psychological strategy agency, with "bold and daring leadership," to develop a "hard-hitting campaign of truth" behind the Iron Curtain.

Note—State Department officials have enthusiastically cooperated with many people-to-people projects such as having the youth of America broadcast over the Voice of America and such as the rubber friendship balls now being sent by AMVETS to the children of Italy and other countries. However, the over-all policy of the State Department has been to confine Russia, not penetrate Russia.

GOP FIRES ON MILITARY AID
GOP policymakers are quietly leading Republican senators with ammunition in order to open fire on the military aid program. The GOP theme has been set in a confidential memo to every Republican senator from the Senate minority party committee, headed by Senator Taft.

"Within four years the Truman administration has directly committed the United States to the defense of forty-one countries," the GOP memo declares. "With a total population of 155 million people, the United States is bound by treaty or by military occupation to defend a foreign population of over 560 millions. American armed forces must not only plan for the defense of the United States and its territorial possessions, but also for the defense of more than 45 per cent of the inhabited area of the world outside of the United States."

Air Lift Makes 'Crazy War' In Korea Tolerable For Soldiers

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Writer

EIGHTH ARMY FRONT, Korea—(NEA)—The Korean air lift today is the big margin of difference that's making this current crazy war tolerable for the men who are sweating it out.

It's getting fresh vegetables to the men at the front. It's delivering their mail to them promptly. It is bringing some of the comforts of civilization closer to the front lines than they have ever been brought in the history of warfare.

It is bringing the wounded back to good hospitals in record time, and men at the front who need emergency leave to get home to sick parents and wives are only a few days from their home in the states.

As far as the actual tools of war go, the lift is making a fabulous record in reducing the time of delivery from the bottlenecks in the U.S. to the battlefield here. It's keeping the fighting status of the front line forces razor sharp by constantly rushing in the latest in weapons and equipment and instantly relieving shortages.

That sharpness of the UN combat forces is considered one of the big reasons for the present relatively peaceful front. The enemy knows too well how deeply they get cut when they hit this sharp edge.

By providing the maximum meager comforts of war, the lift is helping to keep morale of the men unbelievably high in a war that could otherwise be terribly demoralizing.

Credit for this superb job must go to two friendly rival outfits, the Military Air Transport Service, which is handling the Pacific air lift from the U.S. to Japan, and the 315th Aid Division, Combat Cargo which daily delivers tremendous tonnage of all kinds of supplies and personnel from Japan to Korea.

A visit to a combat cargo air base just outside of Seoul, which ranks as one of the world's biggest air freight terminals in terms of tonnage handled, suddenly makes sense out of a briefing given a couple of months ago in the Pentagon by Col. William Weslake, spokesman for the Munitions Board.

He was explaining how the Board was working hard to break bottlenecks on such items as jet engines and tank parts. He predicted that in a couple of months the flow of these things to Korea would be stepping up considerably.

Two months later, just as he predicted, here was a big C-54 being unloaded by a swarm of puffing South Koreans. The cargo was a jet engine and miscellaneous tank parts, among a wide variety of other things. Two other C-54s were expected in within a matter of minutes with identical loads. It was a marked step-up in the delivery of these crucial items.

Without the air lift the delivery of this vital cargo would have been at least a month later. That difference in time could easily have resulted in two or three more MIGs being shot down or the lives of many men saved by a tank being in use.

Not many days ago the very boxes that are being unloaded from the planes at this airport, for immediate delivery to the front a couple of hours away, were stacked on the loading platforms of factories in Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis, Omaha and New York.

Maj. Leonidas C. Bradley, a peppery, lean redhead from Dallas, Tex., who is commander of combat cargo's 612th air terminal group at this station, tells about some of the items he handles. Way over at the corner of the crowded strip, he explains, is a big load of special gelatine explosive which he is eager to have moved.

In the enclosed storage yard just off the dusty field he points out big packages of new - type winter clothing, smaller cartons of pharmaceuticals, a big pile of packaged propaganda leaflets, all kinds of perishable food, wing tanks for jets and innumerable ordnance supplies.

Such stuff doesn't stay long at the freight area. Usually there are trucks from units at the front already waiting for the cargo before the plane touches down.

A few miles away from this strip, at his I Corps headquarters, Maj. Gen. "Iron" Mike O'Daniel, crusty hero of World War II, gives his opinion of what the steady air supply of his troops has meant to their morale and ability to fight.

"The air lift to Korea is one of the greatest developments of this war. It gives a commander advantages he has never had in wars before. The Korean air lift is doing a magnificent job in helping to keep us supplied and in preventing shortages. And I think that they are just beginning to scratch the surface on what they are eventually going to do. It's great."

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE CHANGING WEEK — Something drastic has happened to the American week as we once knew it. The change is most pronounced on a day fondly remembered as Saturday.

Now Saturday was a nice day back in 1920—or was it 1910? Anyway, it was sort of a special day for the whole family.

The children of the family awakened on Saturday morning with a sense of excitement. No school! There might be chores to do on Saturday, but there was no school—and always to be anticipated was the Saturday evening shopping trip downtown.

PAYING THE BILL—In those days the weekly shopping trip was an event. The horse and buggy was not an uncommon sight on the streets of the town and farm folks came riding in on a high-seated wagon.

There were a few automobiles and Mrs. Neeley, wife of the town "millionaire," had an electric car. It went purring quietly along over the brick-paved streets with Mrs. Neeley sitting proudly inside the ornate little cracker box.

On our shopping trips the largest item of cost was the grocery bill. After the grocer had totaled the items (food for the family for a week might run to $12.50) he would bow just a little in receiving the money and then move to the glass-fronted candy counter.

My brother and I would watch the grocer's hand go back and forth, picking out gum drops and jelly beans, licorice sticks and fudge squares which he dumped in generous amounts into a large paper bag.

"Something for the boys," said he, placing it on the counter. That was one reason we liked to go shopping on Saturdays.

THE ICE CREAM PARLOR—Earlier in the afternoon we had had our ice cream sodas at the Palace Ice Cream Parlor—a wonderful place operated by the only Greek in our town.

The place was sparkling clean, there was a generous amount of stained glass around the soda fountain and the lights glowed in colorful splendor. We took our places at small marble-topped tables supported on twisted wire legs. The chairs had wire legs and backs.

While we sipped our sodas and ate the ice cream with a long-handled spoon our eyes watched the young fellows and their girls at other tables who seemed to be more interested in each other than in the ice cream.

We wondered about that while we rattled the last sweet sip through the straw and then paid our dime and stepped on each other's heels hurrying out. The Palace was really a high-toned place.

THE NEW SUIT—It was always on Saturdays that "the boys" got new suits.

In those days boys had little choice in style or color and they did not graduate to long trousers until early manhood. There was dark brown, dark gray, and the inevitable blue serge. We always ended up with blue serge because it wore so well.

The coats had a belt in the back and the knickers ended at the knee. When trying on the knickers the tailor buttoned them above the knee—the only time they were ever worn that way. No kid (unless he was a sissy) wore them that way. You buttoned them below the knee and they slipped down on skinny legs over the long black stockings.

My folks were always distressed over "the boys' taste in footwear. My brother and I held out for that closed with laces while our folks would have preferred something a little more dressy—say these nice ones with the black buttons running up the side.

HOME AND TO BED — Surfeited with sodas and candy and the excitement of the shopping trip the family came home real late (about 10 o'clock) and the boys were hustled off to bed.

Saturday night was a big event. Long after my brother and I were supposed to be asleep we munched on candy we had hidden in our pockets. The licorice stains on the pillow cases and around our mouths revealed our nocturnal lunch, but we thought our parents never knew.

Today Saturday night has been replaced by Friday night and the week has an earlier climax. You pay your bill and get a receipt. For the younger generation shopping has lost much of its charm.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

SATURDAY, MARCH 1

The Roman year, in very ancient times, was divided into only ten months, probably along some plan based on the Egyptian system. And because the last four months still have numerical names—September, October, November, December, from Latin "septem," seven; "octo," eight; "novem," nine; "decem," ten—it is possible that all were at one time numbered.

The year began with the first day of spring, the day that until recent centuries fell on March 25. Thus the month in which that day occurred was the first month of the year. Whatever its first name may have been, the ancient Italians called it "Martius," in honor of Mars, whom they worshiped as the god of agriculture, though the later Romans called him the god of war. So it is this far-off pagan god of fields and crops whom we still honor in our name for this month, March.

In the same long distant period Egyptian astronomers thought seven of the heavenly bodies were planets revolving around the earth. From the most remote these were Saturn, Jupiter, Mars, the Sun, Venus, Mercury, and the Moon, to give them our present names. These planets were held to rule, in the same order, over each successive hour of the day, and the day of the week was then named after the planet that ruled over its first hour.

Christianity and Communism

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Repeatedly in the account of the early Christian church in the first few chapters of the Book of the Acts it is stated that the disciples had all things in common.

It was an ideal situation, for "common grace was upon them all," the common fund distributed "unto each according as any one had need," and nobody lacked.

Moreover, it was a voluntary sort of communism, very unlike the modern-day dictatorships established in violence and force.

Yet this apparently ideal early Christian communism did not last, and the various attempts to establish ideal communistic communities have failed, though some like the famous Oneida Community, became economically profitable.

Why did early Christian communism fail? Chiefly because the Christians themselves failed, but also because by its very nature communism denies a wholesome sense of individualism in faith and action and substitutes enforced discipline for a free and voluntary expression of the impulses of brotherly love.

If all Christians, both then and later, had been as nobly unselfish as Barnabas, whose whole course as recorded in the Book of the Acts ought to be studied for its inspiration, much might have been, and still might be possible. But there were Ananias and Sapphira (Acts 5) in that early church, whose secret motives were selfish.

Just why that couple should have been among the Christian disciples at all is not clear. They were under no obligation to profess something in which they did not believe. In fact it is difficult to account for the presence of some in the early church who seem to have lacked any deep or real sense of the religion they professed.

What worldly motive could have induced any one to join a small company, subject to derision and persecution, seems hard to understand, yet Paul's Epistles make the facts quite plain.

Losers, grafters, and sycophants are always in evidence where they can prey upon the kindness and goodwill of others.

The notion that Christians should love one another, and the evidence that they did so apparently impressed some who set out to take advantage of that love.

No man believed in brotherly love more than the Apostle Paul, but he was an eminently practical man and no shallow sentimentalist.

He supported himself by working at his own craft of tent-making. When he saw lazy, loafing professed Christians using the doctrine of love to assert the obligation of others to support them, Paul laid down the law in no uncertain terms: "If any would not work, neither should he eat."

The Christian Gospel and the Christian life enjoy brotherly love, but they enjoy equally individual responsibility.

Paul found no inconsistency in putting together two texts: "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ," and, "Every man must bear his own burden."

That is great and important teaching for today.

God's Living Letters

By Kirby Page

A slave became one of the world's greatest agricultural scientists. His mother was known simply as Mary and he never knew his father. He had no name of his own, so he was called by that of the man who owned him, old man Carver. In order to have a middle initial he used W, which he said might as well be for Washington. Thus he became known to the world as George Washington Carver.

Before his death in 1943 he had brought incalculable benefits to the farmers of the South through his discoveries, especially new uses for peanuts, sweet potatoes, pecans. But he arrived at the pinnacle of distinction the hard way. In babyhood he had been kidnapped with his mother by slave-thieves. He was rescued but his mother was never heard of again. Emancipation had now come and the little black boy was free. Until he was ten he stayed on the old Carver place in Missouri. Then he wandered through Missouri, Kansas and Iowa, maintaining a meager existence and grasping every opportunity to acquire an education.

At twenty-six he was admitted to Simpson College and the next year transferred to Iowa State College in order to equip himself for service among his people in the South as an agricultural expert. He made a notable record as a student and upon graduation was appointed assistant in botany. Then in 1896 he went to Tuskegee Institute in Alabama, where he remained throughout his distinguished career.

Success stories are common in the United States, but few of them can equal in dramatic appeal the record of this Negro boy, born of a slave mother, frail in health, acquainted with privation, struggling for an education, until he becomes one of the great benefactors of the human race.

No Happiness For Criminals

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—The case of Willie (The Actor) Sutton, who has been portrayed as a kind of super-brain among criminals and quoted almost reverently as a Master Raffles and a modern Robin Hood, has made for me the best argument yet against crime. All crime.

Consider poor Willie, who owes the states something over 100 years of back time, and who says ruefully that a man on the lam from a jailbreak can't plead not guilty. Here is Willie, the super-bandit, fingered by a pants-presser, and nabbed by a couple of cops who were almost dumb enough to let him go! What kind of master-mind gets tagged by a fuz-zy-headed youth and two beat-pounders who have to go hunt up a detective to decide whether to make a pinch on criminal No. 1? And who wait an hour before frisking him for the gat he is carrying.

A Dismal Life
Then consider Willie's life as a fugitive. One time he served as a porter at a poor farm for two years while hiding out. Pardon me if I fail to distinguish between life in the clink and life at a Staten Island poor farm. And consider his life on the lam for the past five years, cowering in a tiny cell of a furnished room—seeking small companionship on the sly, afraid to go back twice to the same bean joint for fear of identification, and living daily under a creeping fear of being recognized and pinched.

Consider that in his 20-odd-year history of heisting banks and swiping jewels, the only real peace of mind and temporary security that Sutton has known was enjoyed while he was serving time in jail for one of his sins. In the tank he was secure, outside he was never any better than a furtive shadow, afraid to enjoy his spoils, afraid to relax, afraid—always afraid.

Can Trust No One
A criminal's pervasive fear is a frightful thing. Whereas all men know momentary fear, the professional criminal lives with it like a perpetually shrewish, nagging wife. It never lets him up. He cannot really trust a partner in crime. He cannot make new friends. He cannot indulge himself in love or normal relaxation. He cannot even get drunk or take dope with any impunity, for the search for booze and narcotics leaves him wide open to arrest. He cannot sleep, even, without wondering if some John won't come crashing in to drop the arm on him.

Willie, the mastermind, who so carefully cased his jobs, who walked in and out of prisons with equal ease, was reading a library shaped to help him find peace of mind. Willie fed pigeons in the park, always more than half afraid that even a live pigeon could turn stool and lead him to a waiting cop.

End of the Chase
And then the end of the chase. No gory gun battle, like that which cut down Dillinger and did in Ma Barker, but a meek and apologetic approach from two harness-coppers who literally begged his pardon when they interrupted him fixing his car—two laws who were tipped by a youngster who recognized Willie on the subway. Willie didn't go for his gun—he didn't go for the one they frisked him for or the one they left. Willie just went quietly. He was sick and tired of the horrible life of the lammer.

When you ask yourself quietly if the king of thieves, the aristocrat of the crooks, couldn't do better for himself in a lengthy life devoted entirely to crime and its punishment, you wonder what chance the fool kids with pawnshop guns, the filling-station heaters, the petty-larceny punks, have of any sort of success?

The dapper Mr. Sutton did not know that the sheepish finish to his gaudy career would write a powerful sermon on the ancient cliché that crime doesn't pay. He wrote it unwillingly and he wrote it large for all to see.

In New York we have devoted two flamboyant weeks to detailed coverage of poor Willie's decline and fall, because it was interesting reading and Willie had always been billed as a kingpin criminal. Actually, we did not chronicle the downfall of a super crook. We wrote an anticlimactic finish to a man who in the end was just another punk.

Natural Gas Deposit Beneath Japan City

TOKYO — (AP) — The Tokyo prefectural government hopes that exploitation of a large natural gas deposit beneath the city may eventually solve the fuel problems of this metropolis of five million persons.

A survey just completed by the Japanese economic stabilization board estimates the potential beneath Tokyo at 52 million cubic yards.

American gas experts say this would be a sizable field, about one-third of California's big Rio Vista field at the time of its discovery. The discovery well was drilled last March. It hit gas and warm salt water at 1,900 feet.

Girls Do Not Know How To Win A Man

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—Millions of lovelorn single girls are moping this leap year day because they aren't among the married.

"What does it really take to win a husband?" they wonder.

The answer to this has stumped soothsayers and psychiatrists. Scientists have been unable to come up with a test tube solution.

Now the business is trying to solve the problem. For the creation of new families is becoming more and more important to industry. If people quit getting married, the nation would soon smother with unsold refrigerators, washing machines and lawnmowers.

Nahma

NAHMA, Mich.—Mr. and Mrs. William Acker left Thursday by motor on a several weeks trip to Florida and other points in the South.

Enroute they will visit their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Norton Stuart, Hollywood, Fla., who have a summer home on Mahskekee lake, north of Nahma, and Marian Scofield of Pensacola, Fla. formerly of Oconto, Wis. On the return trip they plan to call on Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Witters of Canton, North Carolina, formerly of Nahma.

Acker, who has been general manager of the Bay de Noquet Lumber company for some years, has retired from active business duties because of ill health, but will remain as secretary of the company until the liquidation is complete.

Acker was employed with the Jones Lumber company and Williams & DeWitt Lumber company in Oconto, Wis., before coming to Nahma in March, 1918, to join the Bay de Noquet company.

During the past few months, he assisted the Anderson, Ind., management in launching the new Nahma development program.

Mrs. Clarence Menary has returned from Chicago where she spent two weeks at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Syverson, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Menary and Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Menary.

Shower Party

The women of the community honored Mrs. Pat Beauchamp with a pink and blue shower at the Civic Center Tuesday evening. Those holding high scores in cards were Mrs. Ed Tobin, bridge; Mrs. George Miller, 500; and Mrs. Harry Smith, canasta. The guest award was presented to Mrs. Frank Seick.

After the party lunch, Mrs. Beauchamp was presented with many lovely gifts.

Those arranging the shower were Mrs. Joe Labodie, Mrs. Melvin Druding, Mrs. Kenneth Lavigne, Mrs. C. F. Shafer, Mrs. Glen Beauchamp, Mrs. Henry Sargent, Mrs. Herb Blowers, Mrs. Wallace Bennette and Mrs. Henry Gouin.

Those from out-of-town who attended the party were Mrs. David Phalen Jr. of Gladstone, Mrs. Muriel Mercier of Plainfield, Conn. and Miss Teresa Deloria of Milwaukee.

C.Y.O. Mardi Gras

A pre-lenten party for the members of the C.Y.O. of St. Andrews parish was held at the Civic Center Monday evening with about 35 present. An amateur hour was held with Donald Groleau of St. Jacques as master-of-ceremonies. First prize was awarded to Pete Todish and Clark Schafer, and Eddie Bernier and Lawrence Seymour received the second prize. Games and dancing were followed by a delicious lunch. Councilors Dorothy Brown and Mary Jodocy were in charge.

I have at hand the results of a little business research into the matrimonial field. It is a survey made by shadow wave, a Lever brothers home permanent.

This firm polled about 100 guys and 100 gals on this question: "what are the five most important weapons in a girl's arsenal needed to get her man and make 1952 a successful love year?"

Cooking Not Mentioned

The returns are in and, I must say, very distressing. The disturbing truth is that there are dramatic and fundamental differences of opinion between the sexes on just what qualities a man looks for in a mate.

Even where there were areas of agreement, the emphasis differed. Both sexes agreed the girl ought to be well-groomed and attractive in appearance. But the girls themselves stressed neatness, while the bachelors voted heavily for more definite feminine allure.

"Pleasing personality" was high on the men's list; the women voted for "charm," and just what that covers remains a mystery.

The ability to cook rated near the top with the lads, but the lassies hardly even mentioned the kitchen art, perhaps because of a growing womanly conviction that cooking is something done only in the back rooms of restaurants.

Many men put down "a sense of humor." The girls worded it more often "the ability and willingness to humor him."

In general the bachelor girls pictured the prospective bride as a nice clean girl—it was amazing how many mentioned cleanliness—in love with health and home, conversationally gifted and so informed about her husband's business affairs she could even help him figure out his income tax.

Can't Have Everything
This ideal bride, seen through the men's eyes, however, could best be portrayed as Rita Hayworth with her vocal chords removed, standing in a boudoir with a frying pan in her hand.

The difference between the sexes showed up most clearly in the matter of conversation. Most women were dreamily sure men yearn for a wife to "be able to discuss many subjects intelligently," or "a good conversationalist," or "a lively talker."

The fellows themselves, on the other hand, showed a morbid dread of wifely loquacity, or, as they put it, "nagging." One said flatly:

"She should remember that the less she has to say, the less she will have to explain."

Only one male traitor listed "interesting conversationalist" as desirable. Oddly enough, he was a dentist.

Many, many girls in the surveys wrote down "common sense" as husband-winning trait. The men were unanimously silent on this subject, either through sheer male gallantry or because of the feeling that, after all, a girl can't have everything.

Rudie Jehn Named Manager At Nahma

RUDIE JEHN

NAHMA, Mich.—Rudie Jehn, 45, well known civic leader and an employee of the Bay de Noquet Company for 18 years, has been appointed general manager of the Nahma operations of the American Playground Device Co., it was announced by President Warren P. Miller of Anderson, Indiana.

He was associated with the lumber and garage business in Merrill for several years, and came to Nahma in October, 1933, as timekeeper-paymaster with the Bay de Noquet company.

On Oct. 1, 1951, Jehn began handling American Playground Device Co., payrolls and on Dec. 31, 1951 severed his connections with the Bay de Noquet company to become a full-time employee of American Playground.

William J. Duchaine, public relations director of the American Playground Device Co., reviewed briefly the history of the company and presented Jehn as the newly-appointed general manager in Nahma.

Jehn read excerpts from letters written by President Miller, outlining some of the policies and plans of American Playground. He announced three supervisory staff appointments as follows:

Dave Phalen, general superintendent in charge of construction and repair of commercial buildings; Allen Mercier, in charge of land and resources; and Frank Hruska, in charge of special projects.

Improvement Plans

Jehn listed the following projects on the 1952 schedule of American Playground:

Erection of monitor-type factory building, comprising about 70,000 square feet.

Construction of a 11 or 12 unit motel on site of old boarding house.

Establishment of the Nahma Historical Museum in the large red barn, where old lumbering equipment and other historical relics will be exhibited.

Landscaping of grounds and conversion of the three mill ponds into scenic lagoons, which would be used as a mooring basin for yachts and aquatic events. Seeding into grass, planting shrubbery and other improvements to make sawmill yards a park and playground area.

Construction of a railroad station replica at the Nahma Junction terminus of the Nahma & Northern Railway to be used as tourist information bureau and gift shop on Highway US-2.

Erection of rustic signs, patterned after Hiawatha National Forest signs, to designated historical sites and other places of interest in the 4,300-acre American Playground tract.

Repair and modernization of Nahma hotel.

Modernization of grocery department of the Nahma country store, but retaining country store atmosphere in front section.

Enlarging and remodeling five rustic cabins on Nahma beach, a project now well under way.

Establishment of completely-equipped American school playground.

Staging of old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration, Nahma's first in 30 years.

Study feasibility of constructing a community fishermen's wharf, which would be available to Nahma's commercial fishermen and which would pack and ice fish for visiting sports fishermen.

Refugees Study U. S. Language, Customs

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Right now the "Blue and White Club" has 72 members—all displaced persons from Europe. Next month there may be more or less depending on how fast the members are absorbed into the American way of life.

As soon as the newcomers learn a little of the language, the customs and the peculiarities of the country they drop out. That's good news to the social workers who operate the organization. The club is sponsored by the Young Men's and Women's Hebrew Association. It was organized in 1949.

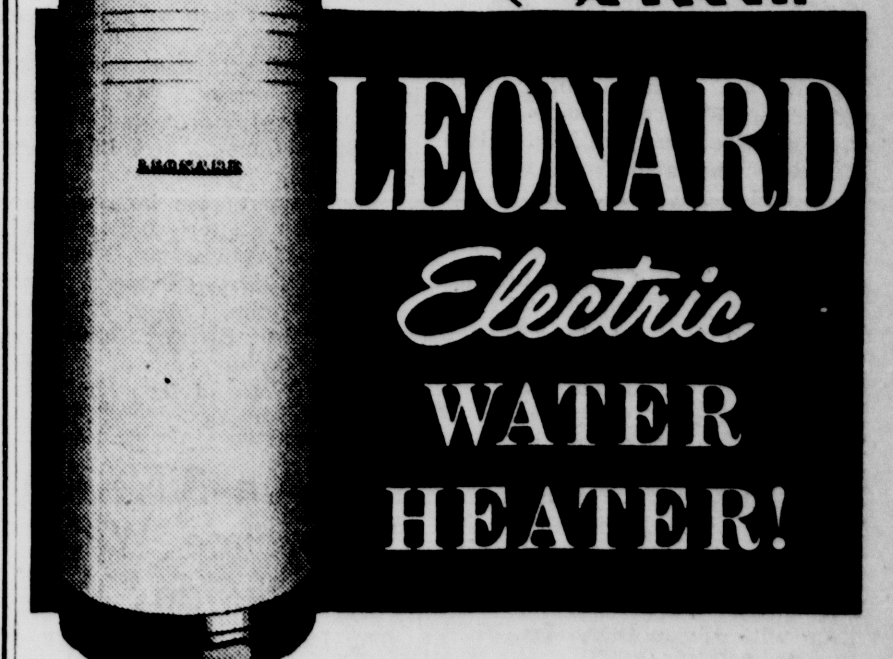

When someone asked if people in Europe realize what America is like, one refugee member pondered and said: "The people back there know, but they can't believe it. I can hardly believe it myself."

Emma E. Mauhar, Leo Harte Wed In Rapid River

The marriage vows of Miss Emma E. Mauhar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mauhar of Ensign, and Leo Francis Harte of Carlow, Ireland, were solemnized by the Rev. Father Thomas Andary, who performed the double ring ceremony at 10 a. m. on Feb. 23.

The couple spoke their vows before the gladiolus banked altar of St. Charles' Church of Rapid River.

During the services, "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother" were sung. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white slipper satin. The square neckline was edged in a double tier of lace and the long full sleeves tapered to a slim point. Rows of lace, which fell gracefully from the front of the dress, continued to the back of the gown to edge the long train. Her fingertip veil of Chantilly lace was caught to an imported crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried an all white bridal bouquet.

Bridal Attendants
Miss Frances Mauhar, a cousin of the bride, who was maid of honor, and Mrs. Walter Lapuszewski, Detroit, sister of the bride, and Mrs. John Culley of Detroit, sister of the bridegroom, who were the bridesmaids, wore identical gowns of cocktail blue. The gowns were off-the-shoulder with nylon tulle yokes, full skirts, button back, and elbow length gloves which tapered to points over the wrist. Miss Mauhar carried a Colonial bouquet of blue and white carnations. The two bridesmaids had bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Joan Sepic of Gladstone, the flower girl, was attired in a floor length dress. Her bouquet was of mixed flowers.

Patrick Harte of Detroit, a brother of the groom, served as best man. The usher was Edward Mauhar of Ensign, a brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Mauhar chose a green print dress with black accessories. Mixed flowers formed her corsage. The parents of the groom, unable to attend the wedding, sent a cablegram congratulating the couple.

Breakfast, Reception, and Dinner
Immediately following the ceremony, a breakfast was served to the wedding party. A reception and dinner for 80 guests were held in the afternoon and evening at the home of the bride's parents.

After a brief tour of Michigan, the newlyweds plan to make their home in Detroit.

The bride attended the Rapid River high school. Mr. Mauhar has been studying at North Carolina State College and Lawrence Tech.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lapuszewski, Mrs. Anna Lapuszewski, Mrs. Ann Dominick, Merion Dembich, Mr. and Mrs. John Culley, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Harte, Emily and Frances Mauhar, all of Detroit, and John Wolfe of Iron Mountain.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Legault and family of Milwaukee will arrive today to spend the weekend with Mr. Legault's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Legault, 328 S. 8th.

Sgt. Donald Magnuson left yesterday for Milwaukee, where he will visit with his sister, Mrs. Gertrude Lieungh, before leaving for San Antonio, Tex., where he will be stationed at Brooks Field Air Base. He has spent some time with his mother, Mrs. Mary Morris, 605 S. 10th.

Mr. and Mrs. William LaCrosse, 521 N. 19th, returned Thursday from a ten week visit in Encino, Calif., with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Clingman.

Norman Sjogren, Appleton, Wis., is spending the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Legault, 328 S. 8th.

Mrs. L. M. Daugherty of Erlanger, Kentucky, left Wednesday to return to her home after spending some time at the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ott, 808 S. 13th.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Ryde and son, Bill, 815 Lake Shore, and Dr. T. A. McInerney, 1029 S. 13th, will leave tomorrow for Chicago, where they will attend a medical convention at the Palmer House. The convention will last throughout the week. Dr. and Mrs. Ryde will visit in Oak Park with Dr. Ryde's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ryde.

Doris Scott And Lloyd Beaver Exchange Vows

Miss Doris Scott, daughter of Mrs. Edith Scott, 1415 N. 19th St., was married to Lloyd Beaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Beaver of Bay City, Mich., in an afternoon ceremony which took place Feb. 23 at 2 in the Pentecostal Church. The Rev. F. B. Hanson solemnized the couple's vows.

During the service, "I Love You Truly" was sung by Mrs. J. P. Silvernail of Bay City.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Edward Scott of Flat Rock, wore the traditional white slipper satin, covered with nylon net. The gown had long tapering sleeves and a full skirt which fell to the floor in a sweeping train. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and red roses.

Bridal Aides
Miss Vina Walsh, the maid of honor, wore a floor length gown of dark green. The only bridesmaid, Miss Vivian Walsh, was attired in an identical gown of lime green. Both carried bouquets of white and pink carnations trimmed with green ribbons.

Little Betty Jean Silvernail of Bay City was the flower girl. The ring bearer was Edward Allen Scott of Flat Rock.

Bill Beaver, Bay City, brother of the groom served as best man. Bill Frizzell was the usher.

Mrs. Scott chose a two piece dress of navy blue with black accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue dress and black accessories. Their corsages were of pink and white carnations.

LUDINGTON BUY-LINES by Sue Donimus

LEAP year and election year — that combination ought to add up to bride-elect! And it's always ladies' choice trousseau lingerie at Marcell's Shoppe. Right now Madame DeDryver has such exquisite three piece bridal sets in pink or white nylon. There is a dainty slip, matching panties, and a lovely gown — all trimmed with net and lace and really beautiful to behold! Also gay Easter bonnets arriving all the time. Marcell's charming chapeaus will give a tilt to your head—and a turn to his!

MY uncle says, "Marriage is a fine institution — but not every man is ready for an institution!" Everyone is crazy about "Elopement"—the hilarious comedy showing at the Michigan Theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Clifton Webb plays the sharp-tongued father who gets so interested in his daughter's midnight elopement that he's finally helping her along. Charles Clary, William Lundigan and Anne Francis complete the all star cast. Webb, who has mastered Yogi, pole vaulting, and other feats in previous movies, comes up with a new accomplishment for this one — he blows bubble gum! "Elopement" will run away with you.—And remember, "Macbeth" is showing at Michigan Wednesday only!

NEWSPAPERS headline the money draws interest. I'd like to put out an extra about the extra pieces of Russell Wright pottery that have arrived at Eden's Gift Shop, because they're extra nice. Headlining them all is the double stack server—two casseroles that fit one on the other with a single cover. A divided vegetable serving dish is another scoop. A large oval plate and cup form a sensational serving unit. It's a colorful story, for the pottery comes in chartreuse, olive green, black chutney and granite gray. Once you've seen these extra pieces at Eden's, you'll say they're worth a special addition!

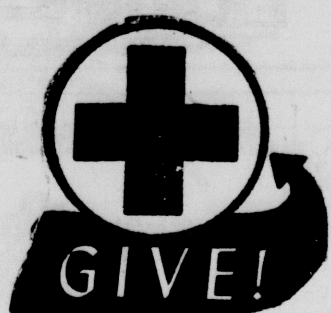

WOMEN'S styles may change, but their designs remain the same. I've had designs on a Nechli sewing machine at Maytag Sales, 1019 Ludington. Without using any attachments the Nechli can do amazingly complicated stitches—hem, sew zig-zag, embroider, even sew on buttons! You're so in style when you sew in style—with a Nechli!

SHE was a photographer's daughter so she liked to sit in a dark room and wait for developments. Be assured that the developments from the dark room of Ridings' Studio are terrific. They may all be in the negative, but they'll positively please you! Now is the time to make your appointment for an Easter gift picture. You'll find real satisfaction in the pleasant, courteous service. It's a skillful workmanship at Ridings. A frame around your face will put someone in the right frame of mind. Garage 5,600 ft.
Dimensions 64'x31'

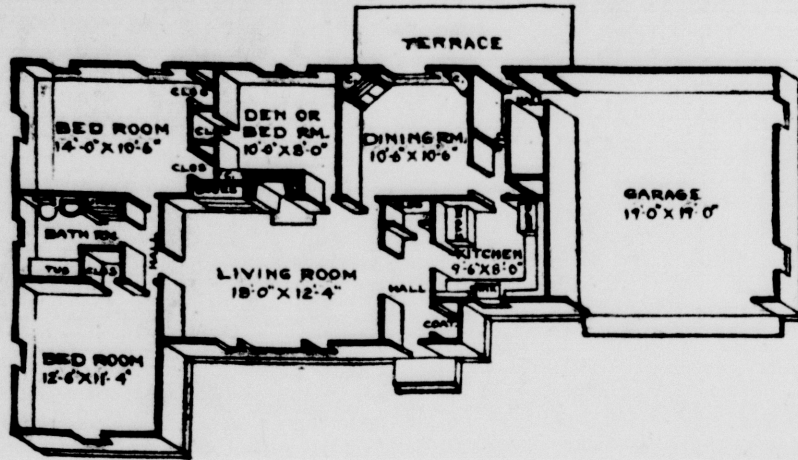

Measuring 64'x31', The Port Huron, with a full cement cellar, has a cubage of 19,000 feet. The garage has a cubage of 5,600 feet. At least a 90-foot lot would be required to hold this modern ranch house and attached garage.

As with most homes of this type, choice of exterior finish is entirely up to you; either wooden shingles or clapboards, or a combination wood and masonry finish can be used to obtain attractive results. Masonry alone also could be successfully used. However, there is something about the informal architecture of these ranch homes that seems to make a plain wooden exterior especially suitable.

Because of the large picture window in the living room wall, be sure to place "The Port Huron" that you'll reap top decorative benefits from any view of the surrounding countryside. Many folks build homes with lovely picture windows and then so place the house that the picture window looks out on nothing but the passing street. Thus, they defeat the very purpose for having such windows in the home and rob themselves of a chance to capitalize upon the view values of picture windows.

Small in dimensions, the entry hall is large enough to hold a good-sized closet in its right wall. You'll find, also, that having an entry hall in your home will help to keep your living room warmer and more comfortable during the colder weather, for drafts to not reach it so easily every time the front door is opened.

In "The Port Huron," the entry hall leads to another hallway connecting with the kitchen and the living room. There is another general purpose closet built into the back wall of this connecting hallway.

Front Kitchen

Located at the front of the house so as to leave a large portion of the back and quieter section of the house for the bedrooms the kitchen measures 9'6"x8'. Although it is not large, the kitchen is very carefully planned and all the equipment is so placed as to save the busy housewife's time and energy.

Work counters, cupboards and cabinets line the front and right walls of the kitchen. The sink is placed under the window in the front wall; the refrigerator is located at the right end of the line of working counters. In the left back corner of the room, conveniently near to the refrigerator, is the selected location for the stove.

Another hallway leads from the kitchen to the back door and to the protected side entrance to the two-car garage. Stairs to the cellar also open off this back hallway. The back or service entrance opens on a terrace which can be just as attractive as you want to make it. Why not build an outdoor fireplace there and let your back yard terrace become "The Place" to relax, to play and to entertain during the warmer months.

Measuring 19 feet square, the garage is well lighted by two windows in the right wall. There is an ample amount of storage space in this garage. If you have no need for a two-car garage home through the large window in the back wall.

Spacious and pleasant, the living room is reached directly from the dining room. The large fireplace, centered in the back wall of this 18'x12'4" room, shares decorative honors with the picture window in the front wall. Bookshelves can be built along the back wall from the fireplace to the left wall, as suggested in the accompanying plan.

The bedroom or den also is connected directly with the living room. Two windows in the back wall provide ample light and ventilation for this room. Two closets, one in the left wall and another in the front wall, guarantee plenty of convenient storage space. Thus, this 10'6"x8' room can serve as a regular or guest bedroom—or as a den—with equal convenience.

In "The Port Huron" the bedrooms proper occupy the left wing of the house. The all-modern bath is placed between the two bedrooms.

There are two large closets in the master bedroom. Two windows in the back wall and one in the left provide good cross ventilation and an abundance of light for this 14'x10'6" bedroom.

Well lighted by one window, the bath has room for both a tub and a shower. The linen closet is conveniently placed in the back wall of this room where it's handy for the housewife whether she's changing bed linen or towels.

Cross ventilation and good light also are assured in the front bedroom which has one window in its front wall and another in its left wall. This room also has a large and convenient closet. The long unbroken right wall facilitates the arrangement of large furniture pieces; would be ideally suited to the installation of bunk beds.

Both the heating equipment and the laundry will have to be installed in the basement of "The Port Huron." Be sure to provide bulkheads for safe and convenient access to the front and back yards from the basement.

Babies' Names Are Chosen In Denmark

COPENHAGEN—(AP)—If you want to pick the name of your baby by your own choosing, don't settle down in Denmark.

Here, any priest may refuse to christen a baby with a name he doesn't like. The parents may take the case to the Ministry of Ecclesiastical Affairs, which usually upholds the priest's decision. The ministry sticks to a 124-year-old decree authorizing it to see that no children have "improper" names.

But is a girl's name improper for a boy? This question will be decided in district court here. The parents want to call their boy "Glennie." The ministry considers this a girl's name and has asked that the case be thrown out of court.

The remainder of the basement area can be used for whatever purpose you may desire.

Papermill Wins Safety Contest

The Manistique Pulp and Paper Company, formerly a division of the Mead Corporation, won first place in the George H. Mead Safety Contest for 1951, it is announced by R. G. Hentschell, plant manager.

The local mill had 385,000 man hours of exposure and 400 accident free days at the end of the year.

Fourteen Mead divisions took part in the contest, with the Nashville, Tenn., mill taking second place and the Brunswick, Ga., mill third.

The Manistique mill also ranked first in the pulp and paper section of a contest sponsored by the National Safety Council. A total of 91 mills throughout the United States participated in this contest, the mills being grouped according to size. The Manistique mill headed its group and will be awarded a certificate by the Council.

Appropriate ceremonies in making the award will be held at the Cedar theater at 7 p. m. next Tuesday, March 4, Hentschell said.

The award will be made by H. E. Whitaker, vice president of the Mead Corporation in charge of operations, and Mead's director of safety, F. H. Wagner. Others expected here for the ceremony will be D. F. Morris, vice president in charge of purchases; R. H. Savage, vice president in charge of research and development; and S. W. Blanchard.

In addition to presentation of the safety award, a safety movie will be shown as well as the regular theater film scheduled for the evening. The program is open to employees of the mill and their immediate families.

Two File For City Council

Two candidates have filed petitions for city council seats at the biennial election Monday, April 7, it is reported by Alex Robertson, city clerk.

Those filing are Otto Schubring, incumbent, and Mrs. Erroll Abell, who is the first woman to seek a seat on the municipal council.

Three council positions will be vacated at the spring election—those of Schubring, George Stephens and Walter Burns. Neither Burns nor Stephens have made any public statement regarding their political plans.

A justice of the peace also is to be elected at the spring election to fill an unexpired term. Victor P. Deemer, appointed to fill the vacancy, has not announced yet whether he will be a candidate.

The last date for filing petitions is 20 days before the election.

Trojans Drub St. Paul By 70-49; Entertain Rock In Final Cage Game Tonight

NEGAUNEE—The St. Joe Trojans had little trouble disposing of the Negaunee St. Paul quint in the huge Memorial gym here last night, notching their 13th victory of the season by a 70-49 score.

Evashevski Has Mild Case Of Pneumonia

SPENCER, Ia.—(AP)—Michigan's famed blocking back, forest Evashevski now head football coach at the University of Iowa, has a mild form of virus pneumonia. The former Wolverine great was forced to cancel a speaking engagement at Cherokee yesterday but was able to keep one here. Evashevski and Iowa athletic director Paul Brechler have been on a speaking tour of the state this week and will return to Iowa City today. Brechler said the coach's condition was not serious but he needs rest. Evashevski spent Thursday night in a hospital at Sioux City.

has a total of 437 points in 15 games for an average of 29.1 per outing. He trails Norbert Puro of Ironwood St. Ambrose in scoring average by a tenth of a point. The Trojans wind up the season here tonight against Rock. Coach Vic Mankewicz's Rock cagers also won last night, edging Perkins 49-46 in a Central U. P. clash at Rock.

Same Starters
Coach Tom St. Germain will stick with his same starters, using Jim Gravelle and Dick Cass at forwards, Kutches at center, John Martinac and Bob Sendenburgh at guards. Game time is 8:30 with a preliminary between the Bees at 7.

The Trojans found themselves quickly on the big floor last night and ran up a 19-9 lead in the first period. Glass backboards didn't bother the Trojan shooting. All of Coach St. Germain's cagers saw action and eight of them contributed to the scoring column. Sendenburgh and Gravelle were standouts on the floor and the former dumped in 11 points on offense. The Trojan press all over the floor was effective and produced more fouls on St. Paul than on St. Joe. The Saints lost four of their five starters and piled up 29 personal fouls.

Class D and E tournaments get under way at the Rapid River gym next Wednesday night. Powers joins Vulcan in the bye position in class D. The Tigers will face the winner of a Rapid River-Cooks game and Vulcan meets the Rock-Engadine winner in the semi-finals Thursday night. The championship game is Saturday night at 9.

The draw for the bottom seeded position was necessary because Powers and Rapid River had identical season records in class D play. Vulcan got the top bye with an unbeaten record.

5-9 College Cager 'Ain't Little Man'

SEATTLE — (AP) — Johnny O'Brien, the first collegian in the history of basketball to score 1,000 points in a single season, is only 5 feet 9 inches tall but "he ain't no little man."

One of the fabulous Harlem Globe Trotters offered this classic description of John Thomas O'Brien after Johnny had stacked up 43 points in pacing Seattle University to an 84-83 decision over the Trots.

That was a charity game with no effect on the little shillelagh of amateur standing, but on the court there is no charity in the heart of Johnny O for the Trots or any other opponent. Last night, for instance, he bucketed 24 points to boost his total for the season—and the national record—to 1030 points. His team beat Portland University 75-69 in last night's go.

In Class D District Cage Tournament

The draw for the bottom seeded position was necessary because Powers and Rapid River had identical season records in class D play. Vulcan got the top bye with an unbeaten record.

In the other bracket Hermansville and Trenary meet Thursday night for the right to face Perkins Friday night at 8:30. Championship game is at 7:30 Saturday.

third and fourth quarters to pin a 58-44 loss on the Gladstone Braves here last night in the cage finale for both teams.

Guard Fred Boddy pulled the trigger on the Eskymo attack which produced a fat 21 points in the third period. Boddy, who was high man for the evening with 21 points, slipped in five field goals in the third frame.

The Braves started out as though they were going to win this one. Coach Eldon Keil's quint took an 11-8 margin at the end of the first period. Midway in the second they had stretched the lead to nine points but the Eskymos narrowed the gap by halftime.

LaPlant Gets 15
From the start of the third period the Eskymos of Coach Steve Baltic took command. After leading 47-37 at the threequarter mark the Eskymos outscored Gladstone 11-7 in the final period. Gladstone forward Lowell LaPlant kept the Braves in the running with 15 points, second high on the scoreboard for the night. The win gave Escanaba a sweep of its two-game series with Gladstone this season. The Gladstone Bees beat the Eskymo reserves 66-39 in the preliminary.

PARIS — (AP) — Tenley Albright, 16-year-old star from Newton Center, Mass., and Sonya Klopfer of Long Island City, N. Y., will attempt to give the United States a sweep of world figure skating honors today. Dick Button of Englewood, N. J., as expected, won his fifth straight men's title with ease yesterday while the women began the compulsory figures of the event.

The two young American women skaters trail France's Jacqueline Du Bief by a slight margin. The French star scored 90.8 yesterday while Miss Albright posted 89.9 and Miss Klopfer, 88.7.

The final compulsory will be skated this morning and the popular free style in the evening in which the Americans are expected to score.

Hawks Beat Sentinels 8-3 For Third Place

Escanaba grabbed third place in the Northern Michigan Hockey league standings here last night with a decisive 8-3 victory over the Marquette Sentinels.

Third place gives the Hawks a crack at the tough Portage Lake Pioneers, top team in the circuit, in the championship playoffs which open next Wednesday. First of the best two of three series will be staged at Dee Stadium in Houghton Wednesday night. Second game will be played here next Friday night and if a third game is necessary it will be played at Houghton Sunday.

Best Game
Winner of that series enters the title picture against the winner of a similar series between Calumet and the Sentinels.

The Hawks last night played what was probably their smoothest game of the year against Marquette. It was obvious from the opening minutes that the Escanaba sextet had the playing edge. Escanaba fans saw a great number of double and triple passes, fine defensive play and individual goals that resulted in scores or near-scores.

Leading Escanaba in the scoring department were Ted Olson and defenseman Jerry Tagliabraci. Both scored twice and had two assists. Cud VanOverloop hit the pay-off shot twice for the Sentinels.

Escanaba was on Marquette ice for two straight minutes as the game opened, but Hawks couldn't connect until 11:55 when John Cortopassi sneaked one home from deep right wing. The puck was deflected into the net off the skate of Sentinel Jim Ogle.

Double Pass
Mark Olson made it 2-0 at 17 minutes on a double pass. Ted Olson and Tagliabraci. The shot slid from five feet out. It was 3-0 less than a minute later when Tagliabraci gathered in the puck behind the blue line and skated through the defense to beat Sentinel goalie Jim DeMarinis.

VanOverloop hit the Escanaba net at one minute in the second period and John Vasseau scored at the 17 minute mark. Ed Broughton nailed one in from the blue line to stretch the Hawk lead to 4-2 at 17:05. Tagliabraci got his second goal on a long shot after a pass from Mark Olson to leave Escanaba out in front 5-2 at the end of the second frame.

Junior Games
With 45 seconds elapsed in the third period Mark Olson hooked a pass to Ted from the corner and Ted scored his first goal. It was Tag to Ted to Joe Ricci for another at 2:25. VanOverloop clicked for the Sentinels on a drive-in and Ted scored his second goal on another pass from Mark to wrap up scoring at 18 minutes.

Between periods the Southside Spartans beat Wells Service club 1-0 in a juvenile clash with Jim Barkow scoring the lone goal. In the second game the Little Falcons of Gladstone edged the Juniors of Hawks of Escanaba 1-0 on a goal by Bob Bizeau.

Rock Quint In 49 To 46 Edge

ROCK — Rock, final opponent for the St. Joe Trojans tonight, edged Perkins 49-46 in an Upper Peninsula Central league clash here last night.

Coach Vic Mankewicz' Rock cagers speared the victory in the final quarter, coming from behind to outscore Perkins 49-46.

The Rock quint played without two of its regulars, Donald Syryjanen and Donald Seppanen who fouled out, in the final frame. Syryjanen was lost in the third quarter.

Kenneth Hill, junior center, led Rock with 11 points. Jim Vallier of Perkins tied him for high point honors.

Coach Mankewicz will open with his same starters tonight. Syryjanen and Edwin Johnson will be at forwards, Hill at center, Robert Koski and Seppanen at guards. Reserves are Francis Bazinet, Tauno Peltto, Gerald LeClair and Tom Morin.

Training Camp Briefs

TALK TURKEY
SARASOTA, Fla. — (AP)—Today is more than the official starting point of the training season to Boston Red Sox General Manager Joe Cronin—he's going to talk turkey with his three unsigned stars, Ted Williams, Billy Goodman and Johnny Pesky.

Of the trio, the slugging Williams probably will be the easiest to sign. With Ted scheduled for his physical examination to decide whether he'll go on active duty as a marine pilot, the main question will be the salary arrangements for a possible part season's work.

TWO HOLDOUTS
BRADENTON, Ala. — (AP)—Veteran catcher Walker Cooper of the Boston Braves was regarded today as a definite "holdout" along with third baseman Bob Elliott.

General Manager John Quinn talked by telephone Thursday night with Cooper who is at home in Buckner, Mo. The Tribe official's only comment was that there was "nothing to report."

GRANNY SIGNS
CLEARWATER, Fla. — (AP)—Shortstop Gran Hamner has signed a 1952 contract to trim the number of Philadelphia Phillies holdouts to three—third baseman Willie Jones, relief hurler Jim Konstanty and infielder Connie Ryan.

Hamner reportedly took a pay cut but said he expects a good year that will bring him an increase in 1953.

Emeralds Meet Newberry Quint In District Cage Opener On Friday

MANISTIQUE—Marquette will clash with the Sault and Manistique will meet Newberry in the opening round of District 65 Class B basketball tournament here Friday night, March 7.

Drawings were made between halves of the Emerald-Stephenson game here last night. Winners of the opening round will meet for district honors at 8:30 Saturday night, March 8.

Bednarz Joins Best Of Jumpers In Meet

SALISBURY, Conn. — (AP) — John Bednarz, Iron Mountain, Mich., skier, will be competing with some of the best in the country in the national ski jumping championships here this weekend.

About 200 top-flight skiers are entered in the competition. Bednarz finished high in the 1951 national championships.

The names of only two teams, Newberry and Sault Ste. Marie, were written on slips of paper and placed in a hat by William J. Cook, Manistique high school athletic director, with Coaches Husey, of Manistique, and Stanley Sosnowski, of Marquette, looking on.

Manistique held top seeded position and the Graverates, by virtue of a win last week over the Sault, had the bottom spot.

Neither Newberry nor the Sault was represented at the drawing, so Ann Marie Sheahan, Emerald cheerleader, pulled Newberry's slip from the hat, held by another cheerleader, Mary Ann Oleak.

Busy Chico To Get Rest

NEW YORK — (AP)—Chico Vejar, the fighting freshman from N. Y. U., is going to spend more time with his books in the next couple of months.

After watching his 20-year old welterweight prospect defeat experienced Fittie Pruden in a fast, action-packed ten rounder, manager Steve Ellis said "Chico" is going to take a long vacation."

Chico needs it. He's been one of the busiest fighters in the ring. His Madison Square Garden victory over the Paterson, N. J., veteran was his fourth of the year, his eighth straight triumph and his 40th win in 41 bouts. He started boxing as a pro on March 25, 1950.

The swarthy, Stamford, Conn., youngster had to put on a strong finish to keep his latest winning streak intact. Pruden dropped him for six with a long left to the jaw in the first round and staggered the Connecticut kid several other times.

Badly Cut
But Chico roared back with flying fists each time after he was hurt and made the transplanted Canadian break ground. In the final round, Chico, a 2 to 1 favorite, chased Pruden all over the ring, battering him with left jabs and short rights to the head.

Vejar, who weighed 149½ to Pruden's 147½, was bruised about both eyes, cut over the left, and bled from the nose. Pruden was cut over the left eye.

Many of the rounds were very close and it wasn't surprising that the officials differed widely in their scoring. Referee Ruby Goldstein voted for Vejar 8-2; Judge Harold Barnes scored for Vejar, 6-4-1 while Judge Charley Shortell had it exactly even, 5-5 in rounds and 6-6 in points. The 7-3 score had Vejar in front 7-3.

LEGS COUNT MOST
VERO BEACH, Fla. — (AP) — Brooklyn Dodger second baseman Jackie Robinson said today that the condition of the legs and not age or weight determine the length of a baseball career.

"What difference does it make what age you put on the roster," Robinson asked. "Numbers don't mean anything. It's how you feel that counts. I don't drink or smoke. Some fellows are as good or better, at 35, than a lot of others at 30. It's the legs that count."

Texans Might Shoot It Out

BATON ROUGE, La. — (AP) — Two Texans who want to shoot it out might get the chance in the $10,000 Baton Rouge Open golf tournament.

The Texas terrors, Tommy Bolt and Jack Burke Jr., are high-riding leaders as the tournament moves into third round play today over the Baton Rouge Country Club course.

Bolt, who plays under the colors of a Durham, N. C., club, lives in Houston, and is a native of Oklahoma, holds a one stroke lead with a 68-69-137. Burke is second with a 68-70-138.

Their nearest rivals are seven strokes behind, a Texas mile so to speak.

"There's no guy I'd rather see win," said Bolt about Burke. "But there's no guy I'd rather beat."

Seven strokes behind Bolt with 144's in third place are Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., Felice Tourg, at Charles, Ill., and amateur Bert Weaver, 20-year-old Louisiana state university sophomore from Beaumont, Tex.

Weaver, who shot a 69 in first round play, went over par on his last two holes yesterday, but still was the only amateur to finish among the top 20.

One of the five grouped at 145 is John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Among other Michigan contestants, Bob Gajda of Birmingham had 147, Horton Smith of Detroit 150 and Max Evans of Detroit 151.

Unfamiliar Faces Stud Tiger Camp

LAKELAND, Fla. — (AP)—You'll find unfamiliar faces all over Hensley field today as the Detroit Tigers launch their first full-scale workout of 1952.

Of 39 players scheduled to report for the opening drill, only 19 wore Tiger uniforms all last season.

Of the others, 15 were rookies, four came from the St. Louis Browns in a trade, and one was Art Houtteman, ace pitcher recently discharged from the Army.

In Good Shape
Of course Houtteman's face was mighty familiar in 1950 when he won 19 games for the Tigers. He appears in top physical shape despite his year of baseball idleness.

Of the rookies, pitcher Billy Hoelt and outfielder Russ Sullivan appear to

Eisenhower And Truman Losing

(By The Associated Press)

Pulse-feeling in the Presidential campaigns brought reports today of weakening in President Truman's strength in the south and a slowing of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's bandwagon in New Hampshire.

It also was evident that the entry of Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia into the Democratic race had sapped much of the power of Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee in the South.

Russell New Threat

Jack Bell, Associated Press political writer, said Russell was a serious threat to any hopes Truman might have. The President had said he won't disclose for at least a month whether he plans to run.

A Republican Senator, Wayne Morse of Oregon, said in a Los Angeles interview last night that Russell's entry meant Truman was out of the running.

"This means," Morse said, "that every Southern state will be pitted against Truman at the Democratic convention and Truman knows it."

Alabama May Bolt

Anti-Truman forces in Alabama gained a foothold for a possible bolt from the party should Truman be renominated. The State Supreme Court ruled that Anti-Truman Democrats could run for Presidential elector without pledging support to the regular Democratic nominee whoever he might be.

On the Republican side, chances appeared dim for a sensational victory by Eisenhower in New Hampshire's March 11 primary. Backers had been hoping for an impressive showing to start a popular clamor for the general's nomination.

Taft has consistently said his own chances there are slim because New Hampshire's prominent Republican leaders are backing Eisenhower.

But local surveys by editors of eight Associated Press newspapers found Eisenhower's strength only 10 per cent or less above Taft's.

Pope Gregory XIII in 1582 ordered that October 4 be followed by October 15 in order to adjust the inaccuracy of the Julian calendar.

Wall Street

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK—(AP)—A sluggish stock market today moved over a narrow price range.

Changes in small fractions were the rule with few exceptions. Many leaders were quite late in coming on to the tape simply because of lack of demand.

McIntyre-Porcupine, which has a considerable oil investment, was comparatively active and up between 1 and 2 points at the best.

American & Foreign Power Common dropped 3/16 on an opening block of 13,500 shares priced at 5/16. The company is under reorganization.

The market yesterday declined moderately in the slowest trading in nearly eight months. Volume came to only a million shares.

On average the market is wavering around the lowest levels of the year. Traders are moving cautiously because of the chance that some unexpected bit of news might start the market rolling violently.

Bulls contend that so long as the market declines with low volume, they are satisfied that it will gradually build up strength for a good forward push.

Losing ground were Standard Oil (N.J.), Texas Co., American Smelting, Du Pont, U. S. Steel, General Motors, and Goodrich.

Higher were U. S. Leather, Dome Mines, Santa Fe, American Woolen, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Sears Roebuck, and Radio Corp.

Corporate bonds were steady.

6. Clague said wholesale commodity prices have fallen 1 1/2 per cent in the past six weeks. The decline for all of 1951 was 3 per cent.

Detroit Near Depression

Clague told newsmen that while prices of raw materials have been declining steadily from the record highs set by the buying spurge right after the Korean war started, prices of processed or semi-finished goods are rising.

Another point on the darker side was voiced in Congress. A special committee warned that "economic depression" will hit Detroit, auto production center of the nation, if civilian production continues to be cut faster than defense work is made available.

Government advisers said 32,000 already are out of work in Detroit and another 37,500 may be laid off by July. The government is considering legislation to help such labor surplus areas.

Freeman's 8-year-old daughter, Carrie, suffered severe burns about the face, neck, arms and hands.

His brother, James, 37, and a sister, Mary 27, also were burned. James' son, Theodore, 9, suffered burns about the head.

Lattimore Reprimanded For Digs At Congress

By JERRY T. BAULCH

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Owen Lattimore today faces another session of questions before a Congressional committee which in the past three days has reprimanded him frequently for his sharply-worded testimony.

The one-time State Department Far Eastern adviser yesterday finished a 50-page statement in which he denied ever being a Communist or having Communist sympathies.

He said his statement also had "sought to express my feelings of indignation and outrage at the treatment I have received." Lattimore previously had accused the committee of contributing to hysteria he said was whipped up in this country by the China lobby.

Lattimore yesterday referred to Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) as a member of the "China lobby" and said he had seen Knowland referred to as "the Senator from Formosa." He also called Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) "a graduate witch-burner" and said Harold E. Stassen, a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, was "slippery."

These brought a barrage of angry questions. Committee counsel asked Lattimore if he "deliberately sought to be contemptuous of this committee and the Senate."

Lattimore said he had not.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) said today "very serious study" should be given to whether Lattimore had shown contempt, particularly in his statements concerning Knowland. Ferguson said he wanted to examine the record before expressing an opinion.

The internal security committee is looking into possible Communist influence on U. S. Far Eastern policy. Lattimore is now a John Hopkins University professor.

In another top Senate hearing, the Foreign Relations Committee winds up a week of hearings on the $18 million dollar St. Lawrence Seaway. Proponents and opponents each have had two days and today was set aside for rebuttal testimony from both sides.

Backers of the project called for early committee action. Senator Green (D-R.I.) told a reporter he hoped for a vote next Tuesday.

in five major accomplishments consisting of agreements on:

1. The forces "to be made available to Gen. Eisenhower's NATO command during this year (a goal of 50 divisions)."

2. The bases and other facilities to be set up for these forces.

3. The creation of a European army of six nations, the device by which German rearmament is to be controlled in such a way as to try to prevent a revival of German militarism.

4. The restoration of West Germany "to a place of equality and responsibility in the European community," specifically meaning the plans for signing a peace contract between the Western powers and West Germany.

5. Reorganization of the North Atlantic Treaty machinery, including establishment of a headquarters at Paris.

These decisions represent progress but not "completed actions," Acheson said. In France and Germany, particularly, complicated parliamentary action will follow.

Huge Ford Plant Damaged; 4 Die In Blasts And Fire

erable damage to machinery that had been moved into the building was feared.

Alive In Ruins

"There's no way of estimating damage until we can get in and look around," a Ford spokesman said.

The blast occurred in a paint storage area. The plant was to have been one of the largest in the Detroit area.

A witness to the Royal Oak blast reported "there was a flash of fire, and the whole place just lifted right up in the air."

Both Parmelee, a well known sportsman and author of a book on marksmanship, and Friden were found alive in the shattered and charred ruins. However, both died a few hours later at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Pontiac.

At first it was feared that a teen-aged girl and two men, other customers in the store a short time before the explosion, also might have been trapped. However, a careful search turned up no other bodies.

Gas Odor Detected

Damage to the two-year-old wrecked building was estimated at $100,000 by owner Wallace F. Perkins.

Earlier in the day, a broken gas main near the store had been repaired. However, tool company owner M. C. Wright, whose establishment is next door to the sporting goods store, said he detected an odor of gas 10 minutes before the explosion.

Splintered glass and brick were strewn for 100 yards around the building, located on a large plot of ground on Woodward Avenue between 12 and 12 Mile Roads.

Some of the debris was found later across Woodward. However, no other buildings were damaged.

Soo Not On Federal Defense Target List; Gen. Maitland Protests

Failure to list the city as a target area means it is not eligible for federal matching funds, Maitland said.

"Despite this heavy handicap, good progress was made."

What's Next In Detroit Hearing On Communism?

stand, Michigan's Rep. Potter and California's Rep. Jackson, Republican subcommittee members, praised her as a faithful citizen.

Second Newsmen Named

A second newspaperman named in Mrs. Baldwin's testimony was Elliott Maraniss, who has been a member of the Detroit Times editorial staff.

A Times spokesman said after the session that Maraniss "is no longer employed by the Detroit Times."

Earlier in the week artist Joe Bernstein, named as a Communist by another witness, was removed from the Detroit News payroll. He had been employed by the paper 23 years.

With a few exceptions — like Mrs. Baldwin, Richard F. O'Hair and Wayne Salisbury—the committee ran into countless stone walls in questioning of witnesses. Many of the persons subpoenaed invoked their constitutional rights and declined to answer any questions dealing with Communism in Michigan.

Fraud Indicated

A possible federal fraud case was threatened against Patrick Rice, Local 600 vice president and one of the witnesses called. Rice testified he had lived in Detroit 17 years, but a photostat copy of a purported passport application he made contained conflicting information. He refused to explain the discrepancy.

Another witness, 20-year-old Lorraine Faxon Meisner, was suspended by Wayne University, where she had been a junior student. With giggles, she too refused to answer most questions asked by the committee. She demanded a hearing in her case, and the university was expected to comply.

A more serious, but equally uninformative witness was a suspended Detroit school teacher, Mrs. Elinor Maki. She was removed from the school payrolls when she disappeared for several days after a subpoena was served. Later she made a surprise appearance at the hearings, but refused to say whether she had ever been connected with Communist activities.

Chief Of Air Force Vandenberg Will Be Replaced, Says Daily

WASHINGTON—(AP)—American Aviation Daily said it has been informed by "an authoritative and usually reliable source" that Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg will be replaced as Air Force chief of staff by Gen. Curtis E. LeMay.

There have been recurrent reports that Vandenberg would not be reappointed at the end of his four year term April 30.
